Sukkos Q & A:

Questions

1. According to the Torah, what three basic requirements define a material as valid for use as a succa roof?
2. If the succa causes discomfort (e.g., it's too cold) to the extent that under similar conditions you would leave your very own house, you are exempt from the mitzvah. Why?
3. What two things are forbidden to do outside of the succa all seven days of the festival?
4. What is the absolute minimum number of meals a person is required to eat in the succa during the seven day holiday?
5. Besides referring to the tree and its fruit, what does the word "esrog" mean literally?
6. What is the minimum length of a lulav?
7. What is the maximum percentage a person is required to add to the purchase price of his esrog in order to obtain an esrog of greater beauty?
8. On the Shabbos that occurs during Succos, we read the Book of Koheles, in which King Solomon refers to himself as "Koheles." Why is King Solomon called Koheles?
9. What prohibition could a person transgress simply by sitting in the succa on the eighth day of Succos?
10. We hold a tallis over the heads of the people who read the end of the Torah and the beginning of the Torah. Why?

SUKKOT B'YACHAD

Sukkos Q & A:

Answers

- 1. According to the Torah, what three basic requirements define a material as valid for use as a succa roof?
It must grow from the ground, no longer be connected to the ground, and not be receptive to tumah (ritual defilement).
- 2. If the succa causes discomfort (e.g., it's too cold) to the extent that under similar conditions you would leave your very own house, you are exempt from the mitzvah. Why?
Because the commandment of living in a succa is to dwell in the succa for seven days the same way you dwell in your house the rest of the year. (Mishna Berura 640:13)
- 3. What two things are forbidden to do outside of the succa all seven days of the festival?
Eat (an 'established' meal) or sleep. (Orach Chaim 639:2)
- 4. What is the absolute minimum number of meals a person is required to eat in the succa during the seven day holiday?
One. Eating a meal in the succa the first night of Succos is a requirement. The rest of the festival, a person can eat 'snacks' which are not required to be eaten in a succa. (Outside Israel, one must eat a meal the second night of Succos as well. However, there is no requirement to live outside Israel!) (Orach Chaim 639:3)
- 5. Besides referring to the tree and its fruit, what does the word "esrog" mean literally?
Beauty. (Ramban Vayikra 23:40)
- 6. What is the minimum length of a lulav?
Its spine must be at least 4 tefachim (halachic handbreadths).
- 7. What is the maximum percentage a person is required to add to the purchase price of his esrog in order to obtain an esrog of greater beauty?
33.3% (Orach Chaim 656:1)
- 8. On the Shabbos that occurs during Succos, we read the Book of Koheles, in which King Solomon refers to himself as "Koheles." Why is King Solomon called Koheles?
Because he gathered (kihale) vast wisdom, and because he, as king, gathered the nation on Succos after the Sabbatical year. (Rashi, Koheles 1:1)
- 9. What prohibition could a person transgress simply by sitting in the succa on the eighth day of Succos?
Bal Tosif - "Do not add to the mitzvos." The commandment to live in the succa applies for only seven days. To sit in the succa on the eighth day with intent to fulfill the mitzvah transgresses "bal tosif." (Orach Chaim 666:1)
- 10. We hold a tallis over the heads of the people who read the end of the Torah and the beginning of the Torah. Why?
It represents the wedding canopy, symbolizing that through the Torah we wed ourselves to Hashem.

Sukkos Etrog Lemonade:

A lot of people say that an Etrog reminds them of a lemon. What better way to enjoy sitting in your sukkah with a nice glass of "Etrogonade"

What you will need:

1. 3 large lemons
2. 1 cup of sugar
3. 2 quarts' water
4. ice cubes
5. a pitcher

Let's get started:

1. Squeeze the lemons. Strain out the rinds and the seeds. Pour the lemon juice into a large pitcher.
2. Add the water. Add the sugar and stir together.
3. Put the pitcher into the fridge for an hour or so. Stir again before serving. Add some ice cubes and enjoy.
